LESS DOLLARS, MORE SENSE.

It's not our first water market.

To be SB88 or SGMA compliant, you need to know how much water you are pumping and you need to be able to easily track it and report it.

With Wildeye connectivity to your flow meters and water level pressure sensors is easy, affordable, accurate and dependable.

This won't be the first time Wildeye has helped growers find a solution that works and have a reliable way to help them participate in a water market. Water markets have been a part of reality for drought-ravaged parts of the world like Australia for over a decade. Wildeye has been a part of the answer since the beginning.

With over 50,000 durable, long-lasting units around the world and 1,000's in California alone, we have the product that has proven itself over-and-over again to be a solution that works!

Wildeye collects your data in easy to use graphs and helps you prepare your compliance reporting and website to meet DWR requirements.

Wildeye just might be the best decision for you and your operation.

- Quick to install
- Reliable and field proven
- Affordable
- Accurate and dependable
- Easy to use and compliant

DONE THAT. 50,000 TIMES. STILL GROWING.

Quick install:

- Units are in stock in our Fresno warehouse.
- Compatible with any flow meters or other data collection devices with a pulse output, no matter the ages or models.
- Installation assistance as needed provided by our staff of trained professionals.

Reliability:

- Wildeye uses a direct connection to the unit for accuracy that is tried and true.
- Optical readers can have issues with condensation and reflections that impact precision.
- Wildeye takes those problems out of the equation.
- Dependable AT&T cellular communications.
- 3-year warranty! We're that confident in Wildeye!

Data Control:

- Wildeye's web-based software platform allows you to control and maintain what happens to your data. You maintain what happens to your data. The data belongs to you. You control your reporting.

- Wildeye provides full software support and training.
- Wildeye's software is easy to use and we are committed to teach growers how it can be a useful tool not just a way to report data.

Affordable:

- Wildeye systems consist of hardware and an annual subscription to access your data dashboards and compliance sites.
- Most systems operate using a small easy to install solar panel to optimize battery life and there are many options available to monitor as many data collectors as needed and desired.
- Our systems are priced right from the start and are easily modular so you can add on as you go, also at our same affordable prices. No tricks and no big pricing surprises as you evolve and expand your system.
